3. Match the interviewer's questions with the right answer.

I would be a superhero.

1.

Would you like to be able to fly?

2.

I would because I am also smart. So I could still catch criminals.

Would you like to be really big?

I would stop attacking ships because I'd have enough money.

I would. But I love food more than anything else.

Actually, I would. But my friends accept me as I am.

I don't think so because then I wouldn't be so cute.

3.

What would you do if you were a good person?

4.

Would you like to be thinner?

5.

Would you continue helping people if you weren't so strong?

6.

What would you do if you were a rich man?

I would not fight Batman anymore...

7.

Would you love Shrek if you were beautiful?

No, I wouldn't. But I would keep an eye on him.

Of course, I would. Because he is so romantic.

8.

Would you continue chasing the Joker if he was a good person?

4. Read the story and unscramble it.

They have too many bad feelings. We have to destroy them.

If you try it, you sign your death sentence. What is your final decision?

Athena! What are you doing here? You aren't allowed to be in this place.

I came to protect humans from destruction. It is my duty.

Athena, get out of my way. I don't want to hurt you. What can I do to make you change your mind?

Nothing, except give humanity one last chance. Forgive them or you have to fight me and my knights.

You have shown great courage, so let's give humans another opportunity.

You can't help them. They are hopeless.

I don't agree. I know they have done wrong things...

...but they have also done great things. Aren't these the gods' manifestations?

Yes, but they are out of control. They don't belong in the gods anymore.

5. Change the questions from the story into indirect questions.

- a. What are you doing here?
- b. Do they really want help?
- c. Is there any hope for them?
- d. Is that possible?
- e. What is your final decision?
- f. How can we help them?

Can you tell me what you are doing here?
